TEST!

The Madison Region Economic Partnership (MadREP), an economic development organization representing eight counties, including Jefferson County, is asking residents to test their internet speed.

The Broadband Speed Test analyzes your current internet speed and provides valuable data that will identify underserved areas and enable us to pursue better broadband infrastructure through state and federal grants.

Complete the speed test from your home and place of work to help us obtain the fullest picture. To ensure comprehensive data, repeat the test at different times and on different days.

Encourage friends, family, colleagues and neighbors to take the test too, as this information will help create a more accurate data set documenting the level and quality of broadband services throughout Jefferson County.

Even if you don't have internet service, you can still help by taking the speed test.

Scan the QR code or visit thriveed.org/broadband for more information and to take the test.
